Mechanism of submission of offline grievances

Suggestion boxes

A grievance redressal system provides a structured mechanism for students and its staffs to address concerns and complaints. It typically involves designated authorities who investigate and resolve issues impartially. Transparent communication and timely resolution are fundamental principles guiding this system, fostering a supportive and conducive academic environment.

College provides a physical suggestion box where students or faculty members can drop their grievance or suggestions.

The wall mounted suggestion boxes are kept for students and faculties to submit complaints, suggestions and comments
